

Survey of Community Depository Institutions in the Tenth District

February 08, 2021

The Survey of Community Depository Institutions gauges how small institutions (those with assets less than $1 billion) respond to challenges.

The 2014 Survey of Community Depository Institutions was available June 9 - July 3, 2014. The Kansas City Fed's 27-question survey focused on four broad areas: prospects and challenges; loans and investments; revenue and expenses; and laws, regulations and guidance.

Your feedback provided us with important information about the challenges and opportunities that community depository institutions are facing. It also helps us better understand the current community banking environment and influence policy matters that are important to community depository institutions.

This survey was targeted toward commercial banks, savings and loans and credit unions under $1 billion in assets. The executive summary and survey results are available below and will be utilized in publications and discussion forums.
