KANSAS CITY FED ANNOUNCES ADVISORY COUNCIL APPOINTMENTS

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City recently announced the following appointments to its Community Depository Institutions Advisory Council (CDIAC). The council, which was established in 2011, provides input to the Bank and its senior management on the economy, lending conditions and other issues.

New members for the council in 2014 are:

- Patricia Minard, president and CEO, Southwest National Bank, Wichita, Kan.
- David Burrage, president and CEO, FirstBank, Atoka, Okla.
- Kyle Heckman, president and CEO, Flatirons Bank, Boulder, Colo.

The 12 members of the CDIAC represent banks, thrift institutions and credit unions and provide diverse views from community institutions across the Tenth Federal Reserve District. One CDIAC member, John Dicus, President and CEO of Capitol Federal Savings Bank, Topeka, Kansas, serves as the Tenth District's representative to meet twice a year with the Federal Reserve System's Board of Governors in Washington, D.C.

As the regional headquarters of the nation's central bank, the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City and its branches in Denver, Oklahoma City and Omaha serve the seven states of the Tenth Federal Reserve District: Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wyoming, northern New Mexico and western Missouri. More information about the Bank's advisory councils is available on its website.
